Ag Injury News Clippings

Since 1997, the National Children's Center for Rural and Agricultural Health and Safety has been a resource for information on childhood ag injuries and fatalities. Their Ag Injury News Clippings project was developed to create a web-based searchable database that can store, search and report news clippings. For more information, visit the Ag Injury News Clippings website.

Ag Safety Photo Sharing Site

The Central States Center for Agricultural Safety and Health (CSCASH) has launched a free ag safety and health photo sharing site. High quality photos can be easily downloaded and used to create educational materials, for presentations or to illustrate appropriate and inappropriate safety practices. There are over 300 tagged photos that can be cropped and modified to fit your needs. Access the photo sharing site via the CS-CASH Website <https://www.unmc.edu/publichealth/cscash/> and then click on Ag Safety & Health Photo Sharing Site on the face page.
